CONSENT AGENDA

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS HABITAT FOR HUMANITY OF NORTH CENTRAL CONNECTICUT NOVEMBER 14, 2023 5:30 BY ZOOM

PRESENT: BATES, BELOW, BLANCO, CHEEKS, FLOYD, GUIDRY, HAMILTON, HERNANDEZ, MCFARQUHAR, PALACIOS, SCHILKE

STAFF: BELAND, MOODY;

GUESTS: CORNELIUS, HEATHER; AUDITORS: GARRETT, SULLIVAN

CRYSTAL offered devotions

DON MOVED AND CRYSTAL SECONDED A MOTION TO APPROVE THE CONSENT CALENDAR, WHICH WAS APPROVED UNANIMOUSLY.

An extensive discussion of the audit report took place with participation by our auditing firm. Some data has not been received, causing a delay in the completion of the audit, but it is expected to be completed in time to file the IRS Form 990 on time.

Task Force Reports:

- 1. ReStore: The state has not yet responded to our inquiry about whether pollution on the Bloomfield property has abated.
- 2. Increasing number of families served:

2021-22

8 homes

8 repairs

14 Brush with Kindness

20 Financial literacy class members

2022-23

8 homes

10 home repairs

15 Brush with Kindness

20 Financial literacy class members

The quickest way to improve numbers is through participation in the BWK and financial literacy programs. Experience shows that many requests for home repairs require large expenditures, which reduce the number that can be done.

BWK: especially in Tolland, needs to be publicized more. Pride often keeps people from asking for help. We should target veterans, a potential market more with our BWK and home repairs programs. For financial reasons, it is difficult to help families that need expensive home repairs – a new roof or heating system.

More facilitators are needed for financial literacy programs. Board members are encouraged to attend a session. We have changed the definition of "successful completion" – it no longer requires home ownership to be considered successful. The classes are often an important step towards ownership because they help families with credit issues. The classes should also include information about college financial aid and potential savings plans.

Future plans:

Increase number of facilitators
Publicize the program more in Tolland County
Step up publicity of Habitat in Tolland County
Form partnerships with organizations and networks in Tolland, including the VFW, Vietnam Vets, senior centers, town newsletters and websites.

3. Shared Equity:

While sharing equity – requiring homeowners who sell their homes to forfeit some of their profits – may keep the houses more affordable, there is a concern that this goal might interfere with another Habitat goal: building generational wealth. International is neither requiring nor advocating a shift to this model, which has only been adopted by a small number of affiliates. A change this substantial would require a restructuring of our staff. The recommendation is to table this issue until the next Strategic Plan is being formulated. (see report, attached to these minutes.) The task force recommends postponing any action at this time.

A motion to adjourn was made by Wendy and seconded by Monica and unanimously approved.

Respectfully submitted,

Anne M. Hamilton Board Secretary

SHARED EQUITY – RETAINING AFFORDABILITY FOR FUTURE HABITAT FAMILIES

Karraine asked the Affordability Task Force to consider whether our affiliate should adopt a policy favoring some form of shared equity (or shared appreciation.) Under this model, homeowners would receive some, but not all, the increased value (appreciation) of their house when they sold it.

There are several models for this, but the principle behind it is that by lowering the return to the original homeowner, the resale value of the house would not reflect the current market value – and the house would be more affordable. In towns where house prices are rising much faster than wages – such as in Tolland County – this issue is compelling, as homeowners sell their houses at prices much higher than their original purchase price. Houses in Hartford have appreciated very little overtime, so a new policy would not affect them.

A downside to the shared equity approach is that it does not allow the homeowners who are selling to realize much of the gain that has accrued over the period they have owned the property. Our committee was concerned that this shared equity approach would not help to fulfill another goal of homeownership: building wealth for succeeding generations.

If the policy were adopted, the affiliate would have to create a land trust and purchase land on which to build. It would have to be extremely careful to make sure that purchasers understood the ramifications of a shared equity arrangement.

Other constraints on adopting this new model: It would require additional staff time – or an additional staff person – to monitor homes whose resale would trigger shared equity. It would be responsible for landscaping, although homeowners would have to maintain their property in order to receive a specified return when they sold. The affiliate would also be responsible for rehabbing the original house to bring it to new-house status.

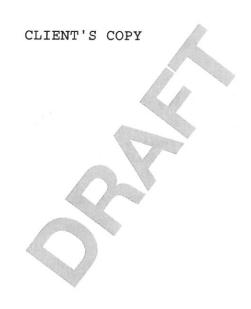

The task force is also mindful that we are in the middle years of our Strategic Plan – with another one not due for two more years. This would mark a significant change in our finances, marketing practices and homeowner selection.

Although Habitat International is eager for affiliates to discuss this new concept, it is neither advocating it nor requiring it. Surprisingly, it does not appear to know how many affiliates have adopted this model. (As we reported earlier, Coastal Fairfield and New York-Westchester have operated under this model successfully for some years.)

CONCLUSION: We recommend that shared equity be considered seriously at the time the next Strategic Plan is being developed. At that time, the budget impact can be factored into our long-range planning. We will be able to learn about the shared equity experiences of other affiliates. The political climate may also have changed as towns and the State of Connecticut look for new approaches to the crisis in housing security worsens.
